REV. R. J. BRUCE
Pastor of Second Congregational Church

Congregational Conference.
The annual meeting of the Congregational Conference and Missionary Society of Maine met at the Second Congregational church at Norway, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday with a good attendance.
Tuesday a large number of the delegates came on the morning train, while equally as many came in the afternoon. At noon dinner was served in the dining room by the Ladies' Circle and supper was served at 6 o'clock.
Mrs. J. F. Swain and Mrs. Fred Cummings were in charge of furnishing entertainment for the guests and were busily engaged assigning the delegates to their respective places.
The first session of the Conference opened Tuesday afternoon with devotional services conducted by Rev. A. T. McWhorter of South Paris. The address of welcome was given by Rev. R. J. Bruce, who cordially welcomed the guests to this session of the Conference here in Norway. Mr. Bruce in brief gave a history of the Second Congregational church, being organized in 1802 as the First Congregational, which church is still in use part of the year in the central part of the town. The Second Congregational church was built fifty years later on a lot below the present one, but was destroyed two buildings ago. It was decided to build on the present lot and 15 years ago the present building was erected. There is a membership of 150 members at present. The church has aided in the training of many young people for services in other places and there is still the prospect and opportunity for the truth to increase.
Prof. C. M. Clark of Bangor, president of the Conference, responded to the welcome in a few well chosen words, expressing his appreciation for the brief history and the hospitality extended. The country church and the country people have been the life of the people, sending out into the world young men of character and ability.
A short business session followed and included appointments of committees as follows:
Nominations—Rev. H. P. Woodin, Auburn; C. Lyman, Portland; E. A. Hambley, Portland.
Credentials—Rev. W. H. Mousley, Portland; Rev. J. M. Blier, Machias; Deacon Osgood, Cambridge.
Resolutions—Rev. J. B. Quint, Brunswick; Rev. E. E. Keedy, Westbrook; Deacon E. T. Garland, Portland.
The evening service convened at 7.30 with the devotional and hymns by Rev. J. C. Wentworth of Fryburg. The sermon was given by Rev. G. D. Boothby of Augusta. Special music was furnished by the quartette, including Mrs. Luella Smiley, Louisa Noble, H. L. Horne and Frank Moore, with Mrs. H. L. Horne as organist.
Boothby took for his text "To Testify the Works of God." In testifying the Gospel the same message which the apostles carried should be our mission. Faith, justice and love should govern our work and the church will be strengthened through the work which has been done to the Christian church, which has been the mission of the spirit of the Master and has been an important factor. Our institutions have been influenced and it has been influencing our nation. It is a power, molding men and nations, and the work of the church is to save men from sin and to bring the love of God into their homes. In this day the people need such a friend, the friend is God in Jesus Christ, and His mission is to all classes and all sorts of men, and by worship and work the church is to accomplish her end and to mold the world. Social worship is essential and necessary to all who see Him worship Him. In social worship there is manifest the manifold blessing to the world.
The element of prayer and prophecy are essential. Prayer, the presence of the Divine, is a life of life. More is wrought by prayer than is thought of. Prophecy is a message of moral truth. The ideals of truth and honor are more important than government and rules and the forming of the state is more important than the state itself. There is dignity in toil. It is the duty of every man to see that every child has enough to eat and wear.
The world needs honest, faithful and consecrated men and women. The church must be a factor in the world and the state is more important than the state itself. There is dignity in toil. It is the duty of every man to see that every child has enough to eat and wear.

ing the society in which we live. In the city unification is not as essential as in the rural districts.
The ideals of religion have been invested in free government. We must have a hand in shaping the government and its forces must get together, not only for politics but for industrial and social questions. There is also need of an evangelistic program as the church must train men for service.
Rev. J. S. Strong of Limington, spoke on "The Possibilities in Rural Conditions." In some of the smaller villages in New England there are too many churches. The social life in a community is more or less divided into two towns. At one time there was a central school, but as the farmers went farther from the villages the district schools were instituted. In rural districts there is apt to be more or less division in the social and industrial life and a day is coming when union will be past and there will be division.
The church of the community should be instructive in industrial matters. The granges have been a great help in this direction. There should also be the betterment of industries and the men and women should work together for the attainment of that which is better.
The discussion was opened by Rev. R. E. Gilkey of Dixfield, who said that if the church had kept to the teaching of the gospel it would not be facing its present problem. The church is coming to a crisis and it must be helped. It is employed from One Who is Mighty, and it will be rectified. There should be more gospel for the people and less creed.
Denominations are not fulfilling their mission when two out of ten are being unbaptized on the ground that they are not ready for baptism. The church is the Body of Christ should be the watchword. Christian people should be regardless of creed and petty notions and the church as a people must possess a spirit of oneness and do away with its divisions. The church is to be a minister to the whole flock. This factor in the country church is an obstacle until the spirit of union takes hold of the people.
Rev. W. W. Folsom of Bath reported on "The Work of the County Commission." He said that the county commission has been in existence for 23 years, and in many places have removed competition from many churches and has carried the spirit of good-will among the denominations in many places, looking out for the welfare of the community.
At the last meeting it was voted to make a survey of the neglected communities, which work has not been wholly completed. The work has been done in Kennebec county, but is not yet complete.
The evening service convened at 7.30 with the devotional and hymns by Rev. J. C. Wentworth of Fryburg. The sermon was given by Rev. G. D. Boothby of Augusta. Mr. Hathaway was taken entirely by surprise but responded and thanked the members for their nice present.

An Evening in Hawaii.
The talk on Hawaii at Concert Hall, Friday evening by Stephen B. Cummings was instructive and held the closest attention. The sixty-four islands of Hawaii were named and gave a good idea of the topographical conditions of that portion of the United States.
These views were interesting aside from their value by merit because they were made by Minnie Libby, our Norway photographer, and the photos taken by her and sent to the directors of the Rev. John L. Stevens, the first governor of the Hawaiian Islands, and a former pastor of the Norway Universalist church.
This talk is too good not to be repeated.

"A Western Girl," was the title of the play given at the Norway Opera House, Friday evening, May 2nd. The play was not largely attended. It was along comedy lines with a happy blending of the "ups" and "downs" in life. A few pleasing specialties were introduced during the action of the play.

Question Cleared Up

Advertiser Readers Can No Longer Doubt The Evidence.

Again and again we have read of strangers in quiet towns who have been cured by this or that medicine. But Norway's pertinent question has always been "Has anyone here in Norway been cured?" The word of a stranger living a hundred miles away may be true, but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

M. M. Kilgore, shoeshop, Danforth St., Norway, Me., says: "I know of no other remedy like Doan's Kidney Pills. I had backache and rheumatic pain for more than a year. My kidneys were the cause of the trouble. Sometimes I was so lame I could hardly stand. I did not rest much and was feeling miserable when I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got them at Stone's Drug Store and a few boxes cured me. I never fail to recommend this remedy." 18-19

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Children's Column.

Kezar Falls, April 13, 1913.
DEAR BOYS AND GIRLS:—I am a little boy ten years old. I live with my papa and mama. I have four sisters and one little brother three years old. His is awful cunning. I have got two little nephews and one niece.

My papa and mama are carrying on the town farm this year. I like it quite well. I help take care of the barn and feed the hens. I will go to school when it begins. I have one cow of my own. I can lead her anywhere. She likes me and I can take all of the care of her myself.

We have got one horse. His name is Peter. I ride him on the back to water. He will not hurt me for he is very kind. I will close for this time hoping to see this in print and will try to do better next time.

WINIFRED D. McDONALD.

Botha Alta, Canada, April, 1913.
DEAR EDITOR:—I want to thank you for printing my letter for me. My papa and one of his sisters by my letter being printed, one that we did not find and we are more than glad to hear from her.

Well little girls and boys I hope you are all glad that summer is most here. I am for one. My mama has three stinging nettles and I like to go to school. I like the story of my girls and boys like to go to school?

I have to play alone. I haven't got any brothers or sisters to play with. I tell you it is hard. I must close or the Editor will think I am a chatterbox.

IRIS YORK.

East Andover, Maine, April 17, 1913.
DEAR EDITOR AND CHILDREN:—I have almost forgotten your paper again so I will try and write you another letter. I see we have several new members in our corner and I am glad they take so much interest in the corner. We have been having some fine weather but I am afraid it has changed now. I am working in a mill now pulling on the gang strippers. I get $1.25 per day or rather per night for I work in night crew.

There is a large boom above the mill on the river and there are hundreds of thousands of cords of lumber to be held by one little chain. Isn't it wonderful what a chain will hold. If you have ever hauled your boat out you will realize how much weight this will be against the chains and logs of the boom.

I am fifteen years old. My birthday was the tenth of April and I slept all day. I had many of the boys of my corner go to sleep and sleep all day on their birthdays? Don't you generally have a good time on your birthday?

Well the sun would like to shine awful well, but Mr. Storm doesn't want Mr. Storm in his I don't blame him much for it would bother him.

Well the ice has all gone out of Ellis river now and I hope it won't freeze up again, but it grows colder I don't know but what there will be skating again.

We are sawing seven-sixteenths inch squares in the mill now. By and by we are going to saw quarter inch. Perhaps some of you do not know what a gang stripper is. It is a stripper making more than one square. Our stripper runs five saws and makes five squares. Sometimes it is pretty hard work to keep the edges out of the squares, but I like my job just the same. I like to push the stripper too.

We bought ten new circular saws this spring and heated two of them before we had worked a week. There has been a lot of water running over the dam lately. Two weeks ago we could hardly get a bolt sawed, but they get sawed fast enough now to suit me. We can saw about one and three quarters or two cords in a night and the day crew can saw about three cords.

There are two men working in the yard sticking squares and hauling in birch. I wish you could come and see what some of these men and those who have never seen a birch mill in sawing time.

Well it is almost time for the buds to begin to spring again and I shall be glad to see them. If we could have summer all the time I shouldn't kick at all. I must close my letter as it is almost time to go to work, hoping to hear from all the old members of this corner and as many new ones as have the courage to write. Don't be afraid, it is what I say. Your letter will not be printed if you do not write them.

Worms in Children.

By Dr. True

If mothers only knew the tortures their little ones may suffer from worms! Thousands of children have stomach worms or pin worms and their parents do not know it. They doctor them for other ailments.

Signs of worms are:

Indigestion, with a variable appetite; abdominal cramping or sweet, nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue; offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and in a few cases the face takes on a dull leaden hue. Eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow fever; pulse quickened and irregular; body may be hot; and often, in children, convulsions. Don't delay! Delays are dangerous. Give the children at once some of Dr. True's Elixir. Directions on the bottle. Sold by all dealers at 35c, 50c and $1.00. Thousands of grateful mothers have given my Dr. True's Elixir to sick children and restored them to health.

The Frogs.

I wonder if you've heard the frogs How they croak and croak and croak, In the edges of each pool, Croaking deep or rising shrill Over forest, field and hill, Hidden by the evening fog, Chorus silent and monotonous, This the message they would say, "Spring has come, has come to stay"— This the chorus that they sing, "Welcome, welcome gentle spring." Each violet, anemone, Like its head in haste to see, Arbutus, creeping o'er the ground, Fash to hear the welcome sound; Trillium, up and wide awake, Laughs at budding fern and brake, While elder bushes pop and stir, Fling their banners to the breeze, And maple dons her robe of red, When she hears the things they said, For the tenderness of love and birth Hovers o'er the waking earth. Tell me, have you heard the frogs' Soft melodious prognoses, Of the story of the year, Their begins when spring is here? Have you heard the things they said? "Last year's gone, the winter's fled"— Then let all hail our next mistakes, Melt as the ice has from the lakes, And so make room within your heart For joys to bud and bud and bud, And lift your earth-blind cold old eyes For light and wisdom to God's skies; Last year is gone, the winter fled, The future's yours; the past is dead. CORA M. W. CHENEY-DEAR.

Mother's Birthday.

Another link is welded to life's chain, The circle binds a sheaf of ripened grain, A golden year's experience and pain, Another year has passed. Your love has been ours in time of cheer, Thrills ours when sorrow's shadow hovered near, While in dark hours of sin, temptation, fear, Your dear love held us fast. 'Neath joyous pleasure's bright and sunny skies, As when dark clouds of doubt and pain arise, We never miss the love-light in your eyes, So wondrous, deep and vast. Always you made our burdens yours to bear, You took upon your shoulders all our care, To feel your tender touch upon my hair, I give you mother's wealth, my prayer. The dark brown of your hair is touched with gray, And we are scattered now and far away, Mother beloved, on this as every day, Our heart's best love to you, our prayer. Dear mother, may your onward pathway grow more free from thorns and troubles as you go, And may each coming year more deeply glow With peace—peace unsurpassed. C. E. F.

"George Umoltis bought two packages of BZQ and in about four weeks came in and said he wanted it advertised, and pay all charges, so the people would know how good it is. He said for 7 years he hadn't stood on his feet. He spent $700 for doctor bills. He only used one package of BZQ, and can run and jump like a boy. He was all smiles about BZQ."

"THE GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY

ON EARTH" SAYS A

GRATEFUL WOMAN

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp Root did me. About four years ago I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctor's medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a through trial, I received relief, so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

Respectfully yours,

MRS. JOHN BAILY.

National Forest Mt. Moosilauke

By approving the purchase of three new tracts, one in New Hampshire, one in Tennessee, and one in North Carolina, the national forest reservation commission has shown that the Government's holding for the protection of navigable waters is to go steadily forward.

Of the three tracts added New England is especially interested in the New Hampshire one. It is in the White Mountains and its forests protect the headwaters of the Connecticut River. The tract covers 7,500 acres on the western slope of Mount Moosilauke.

In part the tract is covered with virgin spruce forest. Another part has a valuable stand of mixed spruce and hard woods on lands which were cut over 75 years ago, while a third portion of the area contains lands which have been partially cut over in more recent years.

With the approval of this tract the total acreage for federal forests in the White Mountains will amount to some 90,000 acres. Altogether the forest lands in the East, approved for purchase under the Weeks law comprise about 500,000 acres made up, in addition to the White Mountain area, of various tracts in the mountains of Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Georgia.

Rhubarb, Welcome in Spring.

After the heavy diet of winter, rhubarb offers an agreeable zest to the appetite, while the almost innumerable methods of preparing it give plenty of change to avoid sameness. Unless the rhubarb or pie-plant is very young and tender, it is better to pour boiling water over it after it is ready for cooking, letting it stand a few minutes, then draining it off and adding fresh water for cooking, says Farm and Fireside, which gives these recipes:

Jellied Rhubarb—Cut fine one pound of rhubarb, put in a granite dish with one cupful of sugar, the grated rind of a lemon and a small piece of ginger root; cover, and bake until tender. Add one-half ounce of gelatin softened in cold water and stir over hot water until thoroughly dissolved; then add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, and pour into a fancy mold which has been dipped in cold water. Keep in refrigerator until time to serve, then turn out on a glass dish, fill the center with whipped cream, and put small mounds of it around the jelly.

Rhubarb Pudding—Wash red rhubarb, and cut into inch pieces without peeling; to three pints add three cupfuls of sugar mixed with half a grated nutmeg. Line a well buttered dish with bread-crumbs, cover with a layer of rhubarb and add sugar and butter; repeat the layers till the dish is filled, adding crumbs last; cover, and bake slowly. Slice of bread may be substituted for the crumbs.

Stewed Rhubarb—Peel, cut in short length and stew in a small quantity of water until tender, adding sugar to taste while still hot. If a little orange peel is first boiled in the water, it will give the sauce a pleasant flavor.

Rhubarb Souffle—Put the rhubarb, cut fine, into a double boiler with plenty sugar to sweeten, and steam till tender; press through a sieve. To three cupfuls of sauce, and the well beaten yolks of three eggs, then fold in lightly the stiffly beaten whites, and bake in a well-buttered dish until it begins to crack open on top.

Rhubarb Sponge—Cut about a dozen stalks of red rhubarb into small pieces, and stew with about half a pound of crushed loaf sugar. Line a small pudding dish with slices of sponge-cake, and fill with alternate layers of rhubarb and sugar, put on a cover and small weight and set aside till cold. Turn out on to the serving plate, spread thickly with a meringue and the whites of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar beaten stiff, and place in the oven to set the meringue.

Rhubarb Puffs—Cream of 7 cupfuls of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of butter, and two well-beaten eggs, one-fourth cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of baking powder, and flour to make a thick batter; then stir in one cupful of finely chopped rhubarb; half fill well buttered cups and steam for half an hour. Serve with pudding sauce.

Rhubarb Pie—having lined a plate with paste, put in a large cupful of rhubarb cut in small pieces; beat together one-half cupful of sugar and one egg, and pour over the top; sprinkle over a pinch of salt, and cover with a top crust.

Summer School in Waterford. This institution, preparations for which commenced three weeks ago, is rapidly developing into grand proportions. The plot of ground lies on the Northwest shore of Bear pond in pasture and woodland containing, as estimated, 20 acres, more or less. The surface is undulating and sloping toward the pond, lying between the shore and Mutiny brook.

A fine building is being erected, 50x50 feet, 2 stories arranged for 14 rooms, to be occupied by the proprietors and servants.

The pupils are all boys, about 40 in number, who will be quartered in tents on an extended area of land, dry and smooth for the purposes of a camp. A broad pasture affords a grand chance for baseball and track sports and two elegant tennis lawns are graded and nearly finished. Altogether the camp comprises about every desirable feature that can be imagined, with its quarter mile of fine sandy beach and facilities for fishing and swimming.

An ell, 25 ft. square for kitchen purposes and open porch 14x50 ft. affords room for culinary conveniences and dining room. John Proctor of Bridgton is contractor in charge of the whole scheme of improvement of the ground, with eight or more carpenters and two men for grading and finishing track and tennis surfaces.

The proprietors of the School reside in New York and Massachusetts and the pupils for the school will come from these two states. George Proctor of North Bridgton is superintendent of the building and ground improvement.

Electric Lighting.

For nearly two years past the family of W. K. Hamlin have enjoyed the luxury of a residence lighted in all its departments by electric power generated by a small dynamo propelled by the water wheel of his woodworking and carding mill.

That source of lighting power, though quite efficient and dependable, being available only while the water power was operating, has induced Mr. Hamlin during the present month to install a new method of obtaining electric power for lighting purposes by the erection of a 56 cell storage battery in his mill building by which he has received great advantages over the former means of illumination.

The charging of the battery for lighting service requires a number of hours and when fully charged is always ready for instant service until it requires recharging. With a new, improved outfit of bulbs.

Mr. Hamlin has secured much better lights than by the former fixtures. Ralph Heath, an expert electrician in the employ of Brackett, Shaw & Lunt of Somersworth, N. H., had charge of the installation of the new lighting plant.

Will Goodwin has painted his buildings this spring.

Beulah Kilgore is the competent assistant housekeeper for Mrs. W. K. Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Randall of Bridgton, were guests of Elsiea York on Sunday, last.

Richard, infant son of George Kimball is a subject for hospital treatment in Portland, for scrofula.

E. P. Kimball and Charles S. Hamlin attended the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows in Portland the present week.

George Hill, Howard Dearborn and Harold Kimball are working at North Bridgton, repairing the town roads.

Mrs. Blanche Merrill returns this week to her home from her late detention at the Home Hospital of Dr. A. S. Stimpson.

The residence of Mrs. Luella Flint with its new coat of white completes the present brightening of the upper side of Main street.

Hazel York caught her first big salmon last week. It weighed 4 1/2 pounds. A number of sizeable bass have also been taken from Bear Pond.

Nora Martin of South Paris is teaching the school in the Mutiny district the present term with twenty scholars; boarding at E. P. Kimball's.

Bear Mountain Grange at its last meeting discussed the question, whether the telephone is more a necessity or a luxury the consensus of opinion being that it is a necessity.

Will Green had the misfortune to lose his favorite mare of colic last week. She was supposed to be nearly thirty years old, but was an excellent driving horse and good for much more service.

Theo. Green of Portland, manager and accountant for the Waterford Packing Company has a handsome suite of rooms at Oscar Brown's. She went to Portland last week to visit her father, who is suffering from a disease of the knee-joint.

W. K. Hamlin and son have completed the work of setting up their new saw-mill and now have a wood working establishment of the first-class with a large quantity of excellent timber to be sawed and manufactured into boxes and other valuable forms.

God in the Newspapers.
The daily press is as full of spiritual teaching of a kind as the Bible. It does not preach sermons. It is true, or tag on morals to its news, but the lessons are so plain that he that runs may read.
Shining behind the tragic facts of multitudes of front page articles one may read such terrible texts as "Whatever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."
"He that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption," and "The way of sin is death."
God is speaking loudly in every newspaper in the country. The bush is afire, yet men pass by unseeing.

Now Paint.
Strike when the iron is hot and paint
when the property needs it.
They paint ships a dozen times a year;
yes, some of them, every voyage. What for do you think? To look nice and get business.

A livery keeps its carriages painted and varnished and washed, to look nice and get business.
A man, with a house for sale or to let,
"does it up," and Devoe is the paint.
There's more in paint than to keep out water. Paint for looks and you needn't think about water. A fresh coat of paint once a year is about as good for his credit as paying his debts. But the man whose buildings and fences look new, very likely, has no debts.

advertised for such cases and I saw I got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend your

Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All

no quotations should be made. Any child between the ages mentioned, attending a country school, may compete.
Only one side of the paper must be written on; the name and address of the writer, and the name and location of the school which he or she is attending must be plainly written at the top of the first page.

A Picture of Life.
"O, Father lead us by the hand,
And mark out all the ways."
When I wrote you before of a school I taught many years ago, and after that I lived another with about the same number of scholars, twenty. We had to cross the river in a log boat. It was a big pine log hollowed out, called a "Dug out,"
and so nicely fixed that quite a number of persons could be seated in it at one time. A man would stand at one end with a long pole, and by weighing it on either side at times, would keep it upright, and making for the opposite shore as he would keep pushing. In a dry spell the river was shoal at this place,
but always swift.
I boarded for a while at Mr. Fickett's.
When I first became acquainted with the family they lived (as most all the early settlers did at that time) in a log house.
There was no timber they could get suitable to build and shingles and clapboards were scarce, or even boards, they lived so far from mills. Not many years after I was there, a good framed house was raised and finished, with a good barn.
There were six girls and four boys in the family. This family and John M.
Wilson's was the last on the Magalloway River, and they were really on the frontier. One of the girls married and still lives on the old place. Their oldest boy had quite an experience driving the stage from Bethel Hill into Wilson's Mills. I joked him a little, just for fun, he said, "It takes me every day in the week to mind my own business."
I always remembered that. It was a good
hit. He was indeed a trusty, good man, and had many friends.
One of the girls married for many years
in Portland.
I was there when Captain Wilson's mother celebrated her one hundredth birthday, of which I may write another time.

Dr. Hartman's Plain Talk to Young Men
My plain talk to young men in my last article certainly brought out many responses from young men. I take this means of answering them briefly, for the benefit of other young men who did not write me. One writer says:
"I was greatly interested in your talk to young men. I wish I was strong and well as you describe yourself to be. I am going to begin at once and follow your advice and take care of myself as I ought to. I will quit the use of all stimulants, tea and coffee, go to bed early. I will take the cold water towel bath every morning.
I want to live to be old and useful, like you. And I shall also keep Perna at hand, in case of slight ailments as they may arise. I thank you in the name of thousands of other young men, like myself."
To this letter I replied:

From the decision of the full bench
of the Supreme Court of Maine in the so called "corn cases" is that the canner should not pack frosted corn, for in so doing he is liable to come in contact with the Pure Food Law, both State and National. These decisions make clear the contract between the packer and farmer, "suitable for canning." In the case in issue, the Portland Packing Co., refused to accept frosted corn, deeming
it unsuitable for canning purposes, though by so doing they were unable to carry out their contract with the parties to whom they sold the corn.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

Benjamin M. Scribner.

The old time friends of Lucinda Lovewell Scribner will be interested in the following, taken from a New York paper, which concerns her son, Benjamin L. Scribner—"Benjamin L. Scribner, for many years a well known engineer in the service of the Erie R. R. Co., died at his home, Prospect street, Cedar Hill Avenue, Nyack, N. Y., Apr. 11, in his 75th year. He had suffered from heart trouble for a long time. The end came peacefully.

Mr. Scribner was an engineer on the Erie line in the early days of the Civil War, at that time living in Port Jervis. While there he married, his wife being named Otisville, Orange Co. Mrs. Scribner survives him.

Some forty-five years ago Mr. Scribner came to the Northern R. R. of New Jersey and during his long service between Nyack and Jersey City he has been one of the most popular and efficient engineers on the road.

Some years since Mr. Scribner gave up active service, his failing health compelling him gradually to relinquish his accustomed duties and remain in his home.
